TITUS, ONE OF THE EARLY BIRDS IN TRAINING ON THE HARLEM.

MORNINGSTAR DEFEATS CURE

In Opening Game of Billiard Tournament by 500 to 463 Points.

In defeating Louis Cure, the best billiardist of Europe, in the opening game of the international billiard tournament for the world's championship at 18-inch ballkine at Madison Square Garden, Cent Hall, last night, Orlando Morningstar, a young player of this city, added fresh laurels to his career and furnished the first surprise in the tournament results.

The weather and the possibility perhaps of a victory for Cure interfered with the attendance, but the finish of the long four-hour contest was of sufficient brilliancy to satisfy the five hundred or more spectators. The playing of a full round in the last seven feet from the outer edge was an innovation well appreciated by the players, while the spectators in all parts of the hall found the seating arrangements very satisfactory. For Prof. Edward McLaughlin, as referee, there was nothing but praise.

All the players, including Schaefer, Sutton, Slosson, Hoyer and Carter, were present, several being accompanied by their wives, their being a goodly number of women in the audience. Demostri, the brilliant young Chicago amateur, was also present, and prominent in the crowd were Mark Twain and H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil man, the two paying great attention to the contest.

Opening Innings Slow. The opening innings of the game were slow, as might be expected for the first contest of the tournament, the new table and equipment. The cloth and cushions were fast, and at the close the balls got to jumping so that Cure became disgusted with the poor results that followed his shooting, and several times evinced his dissatisfaction. The playing of Morningstar at the finish, which was a very fine performance, was a surprise to all who were present.

Cure was nowhere near his true form, and only once when he closed off the white and followed the cue with a few points did his work appear satisfactory to his many friends. He is a rapid player and has many little Frenchisms which tickle the spectators. He is left handed, and in difficult shots raises his little left foot in black enamel slipper on the red ball.

Cure in the fifteenth inning shot some good billiards in nursing and driving, but Mark Twain, who was sitting next to him, was not so successful. He shot a white ball into the pocket, and the white ball followed this on his next shot, bringing the object balls up to the upper cushion for careful line and rail nursing, but fell down on his end.

Following the runs of 20, 21 and 24 by Morningstar, near the middle of the game, the players made a mixture of good and bad. Cure increasing his lead with 44 in the forty-first inning. Then he laid down to nurse for him, while Morningstar, regarding his confidence and strike began to come on very fast. In the fifteenth inning Morningstar, with good gathering shots, careful nursing and a few safety shots, made a run of 100 points, and in the thirty-second inning, with a few safety shots, made a run of 100 points, and in the thirty-second inning, with a few safety shots, made a run of 100 points.

THESE ARE LIVELY DAYS ALONG THE HARLEM RIVER

Oarsmen Are Preparing for Sport's Biggest Season.

The Harlem River is polka dotted with racing sculls these days. The season of 1906 promises to be the greatest in the history of the sport.

Although the regatta is nearly two months off, May 30, the human propellers of the various Harlem clubs are working every day. Constance S. Titus, former champion, who is believed to be fit to win back his laurels this season, is one of the early birds on the river. Morning and night his long sweep can be distinguished in the assemblage of shells.

Frederick Shepherd will have J. McLaughlin as a teammate. McLaughlin was the best in the Savannah Junior four last year, the champion giant.

BASEBALL WORLD A HUSTLE FOR SEASON'S OPENING

BY BOZEMAN BULGER. In the baseball world just now everything is hustle and bustle.

One of the new things the Giants have introduced this season is a baseball shirt without a collar.

Many letters have come to The Evening World asking if certain ball players get as much as $15,000.
